OPEN LETTER TO BRISBANITES

The 17th District of the Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet for the first time in Brisbane's history, on January 17th in the Brisbane School for their regular session.

To the majority P. T. A. and to use a simile—it is the same thing as telling a child he no longer needs to eat in the nursery, but may now sit at the table as a recognized member of the family. From now on out Brisbane will be asked more and more to take part in the general Peninsular activity. Many of these women from all over the county have never been in Brisbane and are naturally curious about our little town.

Now — may we point out this fact to the Chamber of Commerce, Lion's Club, Garden Club, Fire Department, American Legion, all of the school children and every civic minded citizen, that now is the time to show what a charming little community this is. Vacant lots could be straightened, front yards cleaned a bit.

I sincerely hope I have not offended anyone by these words, but my anxiety in our getting our "shirt tucked in and our vest pulled down" leads me to hope these visitors may see how Brisbane does produce the co-ordinated organizations and active people that she does.

Sincerely, Byron Jensen.

OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

The Lions Club is sponsoring a plan whereby, there will be prizes offered for the best outdoor Christmas tree decoration.

Brisbane is so clearly seen from highway, any outdoor Christmas scene would be very attractive.

First prize is $10 offered by Laings Foundation. Second prize $5.00 given by Lions Club. Third prize $3.00 from Dagler's Market. Judging will take place December 22nd.

SAILOR'S WIFE, 17, IS SHOT ACCIDENTALLY

The teen-age wife of a U. S. Navy sailor was accidentally shot recently when a member of a target-practice group she was with apparently tripped, discharging a 22 rifle.

She was only slightly wounded. Mrs. Othalee Moors Wright, 17 of 290 San Benito Street, Brisbane, told San Mateo county deputy sheriffs that she and three other young people went to the Southern Pacific yards between Brisbane and South San Francisco to shoot at tin cans.

She said she and Geraldine Harrison, 17, of 105 Mariposa street, Burlingame, were walking a "short distance ahead" of Geraldine's brother, Norman, 20, and Richard Robinson, 19, of 315 Lorton street, Burlingame.

Robinson was carrying the rifle under his arm. He tripped, accidentally discharging the bullet, which struck Mrs. Wright in the right hip.

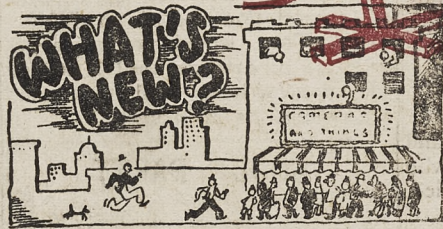

She was taken to South San Francisco Hospital and later was to be transferred to Community Hospital, San Mateo.

BRISBANE MAN INJURED

Leroy Lee, 35, of Humboldt Rd., was treated at South San Francisco Hospital for a gash on the back of his head, and for concussion.

The California Highway Patrol reported Lee was walking across Bayshore Highway in the pedestrian crosswalk at the Brisbane intersection.

He was struck by a southbound car driven by Connie Seastrunk, 31 San Francisco, according to the CHP. Officers said the right front fender of the car struck Lee, tossed him into the air. He was knocked unconscious but recovered upon being taken to the hospital.

HENDERSON

Married at a quiet, little ceremony in the home of Rev. R. S. Beal, Jr., on Saturday evening, December 10 were: Mattie Marie Davenport of San Bruno and Clement Leroy Freer, long time resident of Brisbane.

Matron of Honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edna Davenport. Best man was Alvin Eckols. Attending the wedding was the new Mrs. Freer's son and daughter-in-law, the William Davenports of Oakland.

A small reception was held in the new establishment of the newlyweds on Sierra Point Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Welden A. Delbon and family of Klamath St., spent thanksgiving day with Mrs. Delbon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Canning, in Napa. Mr. and Mrs. John McKalips of Piedmont also joined the family gathering.

Donald Delbon had a narrow escape from serious injury in Piedmont recently. He was standing beside the automobile of his cousin Bib McKalip, when he saw a fast moving car headed toward him. He leaped for the seat of his cousin's car. The impact of the machine closed a car door on his foot, with slight injury resulting.

Several Brisbane residents attended the recent party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown, formerly of Brisbane, now residing in Westwood Park. The affair honored the birthdays of Carol, Jimmie and Charles Brown. Guests from Brisbane included Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schmidt and son Henry. Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Schmidt and daughter Kathy. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Terry and grandson Bobby Datterlee. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. J. McCarthy, formerly of Brisbane.

Mrs. Fred A. Schmidt and daughter Cathy entertained recently at their home, 375 Alvarado street. Guests were Wilma Schult, Louise Fassett, Beth May, Maxine Jensen, Loraine Thrasher, Geraldine May, Dolores and Coleen Van Kirk, Ann Rumbaugh, Evelyn Urlick, Margaret Schmidt and Mrs. George Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parrish of Humboldt Rd., will be having a White Christmas this year. They and their son Michael are flying to Chicago then on to Springfield, back to Chicago and New York, another stop in Chicago for the New year, then via plane home again.

The Brisbane Fire Department and Fire Chief, Mr. Louis Terry, extends to each and all, the Season's Greetings and hopes everyone will follow the safety measures in tree and house lighting to prevent any unhappy holidays.

The George Radoffs Jr. spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. High of Placerville. Also, in the same family group were the George Radoffs, Sr.

Fred and George have nearly completed the lovely new residence in Placerville for "George Sr." and "Scottie."

4 OVERCOME IN BRISBANE STORE FIRE

Four volunteer firemen were overcome by smoke recently in Brisbane while fighting a fire which gutted the Brisbane Drug Co. and for a time threatened nearby buildings. Fire damage was estimated above $25,000.

Citizen-firemen treated by an ambulance crew under direction of Herb Tamm were Dick Schroeder, Dick Guice, John Bell and Cliffannon. Gannon also suffered a hand injury.

The flames were discovered at 30 a. m. by passerby. Twenty-two volunteer firemen using three pieces of apparatus under direction of Fire Chief Lou Terry battled the flames for three and one-half hours.

Residents of two apartments at the rear of the drug store were forced to flee in scanty attire when awakened by the roar of the flames. However, the fire did not reach these apartments.

Practically all of Brisbane was attracted to the scene. Police Chief Dan Case reported the crowd as "very orderly" and credited them with keeping far back so as not to retard the firefighters.

Owner of the drug store and building, Virgil N. Gilman and Mrs. Mary Fairbanks, stated that all prescription records had been saved. They would not place an estimate of damage until a survey by underwriters and insurance representatives is made.

SCOUT PARTY

The various leaders, Den Mothers, Cub and Scoutmasters have put in some long but pleasant hours in planning the Boy and Girl Scout Christmas party to be held Sunday, December 18, at 1 p. m., at the schoolhouse.

"Brownie" Scouts go on the program first, followed by Cub Scouts, then the Girl Scouts, troops one and two, ending with the Boy Scouts' skit.

Santa Claus will then arrive and pass out the treats and gifts that have been left under the Christmas tree.

Cake, coffee and soft drinks will be served when the children have visited with Santa Claus.

IN REGARDS THE PASSING OF A LANDMARK IN BRISBANE

By Glays Reece

A pre-dawn fire on the morning before Thanksgiving day destroyed one of Brisbane's landmarks when, at 3:30 a. m., the fire siren blew to awaken most of Brisbane's residents to watch Gil's Drugstore go up in smoke. Long a meeting place of the town's familiar faces, Gil's place had become the counterpart of the "corner grocery store" in other small towns across the nation, just like this one. The building had been built sometime around 1933—no one seems to remember exactly when—and at the time of the fire, was the oldest established business in Brisbane.

Gil has long been the "Father Confessor" in this little town, and no child with a sick pet was ever turned away. Somehow, the closed doors on this burned-out building has left a gap in our lives—and we still find ourselves running down "Gil's" for that forgotten roll of cotton, or that little gift for Susie's birthday—only to be confronted by closed and locked doors, and a fire-blackened interior. As we peer through the cracked glass, we can see the ghosts of once-lovely cosmetic cases, once-brilliant plastic stands, and all the other interesting items that once made up the interior of Brisbane's busiest store. Even the magazine and books look forlorn, with their over-coating of smoke stains—some of them soggy and wet from the drenching they got from the fire hoses on that dark morning.

Gil's has long been the newspaper agency for Brisbane. And Brisbane now faces the Christmas season with only one drugstore open doing business. The loss of this meeting-place is being felt keenly by the townspeople, and we're all waiting to see if "Gil" will re-open, and if so—when. No plans have been made yet for re-opening, or re-building.

The building was owned by Gilman and his mother-in-law, Mrs. May Fairbanks, while the drugstore itself was operated by Gil and his wife, Frances, prior to the fire. B. F. Glendenning, of National Board of Fire Underwriters, was called to inspect the burned out premises, and found no evidence of arson. Neither did Fire Chief Terry. Cause of fire was unknown, and heavy losses were sustained, and was only partly insured. The Gilmans dropped one of their major policies a short time ago. Let's all hope that "Gil" gets another drugstore, and soon. We need him.

ENGLISH FOR FOREIGN BORN

"English and Foreign Born" will be the title of a class to start in the Night School of the Jefferson Union High School.

January 5 is the opening date of the new class, which will meet each Tuesday and Thursday evening from seven until nine o'clock.

Mr. Paul McDonald, of the local elementary school faculty, will be the instructor.

A number of residents have requested this class and others, no doubt, will enroll when they know of the opportunity. Citizens of the community are asked to inform their foreign-born friends of this chance to learn to read and write the English language.

By BRIS - BETTE

Each month poor Bris-Bett takes pen in hand and wonders what word, what recipe, will most appeal to the good people who follow the column in each edition. Sometimes it's sentiment, resentment, joy or sorrow that colors words. However, there is only one thing to say this time of year that really means something and is good always, and that's a Merry Christmas and a Wonderful New Year "To All."

Here are a few suggestions on something good to eat during these good eating days:

Recipes

Did you have trukey Christmas Eve?

Here's a grand breakfast dish after any turkey -

Slice thin pieces of the breast of the bird; lay in shallow pan and dot with butter; sprinkle with paprika and a little salt; put under broiler until edges crisp; remove and serve with scrambled eggs and cranberry sauce.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT CUP

Start off your Christmas dinner with this colorful, refreshing fruit appetizer.

For each serving you will need:
3 or 4 grapefruit sections
3 or 4 slices avocado
1 small scoop lime, lemon or orange sherbet - Few pomegranate seeds
1 or 2 sprigs water cress

Arrange grapefruit sections and slices of avocado on a small plate or in a sherbet glass. In the center put the scoop of sherbet, and sprinkle pomegranate seeds over the top. Garnish with watercress.

Cranberry Sherbet:

Soften 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water. Cook 4 cups fresh cranberries in 2½ cups water until all skins pop; put through fine sieve; add 1 cup sugar, 1 cup light or dark corn syrup, and the softened gelatin; heat until sugar and gelatin are dissolved; cool; add one-third cup lemon juice. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray; freeze about 4 hours, or until firm. Makes 1 quart.

BOY SCOUTS NEWS

The Boy Scout Court of Honor that was held Wednesday evening, December 1st in the Recreation Center, was outstanding for two reasons. First, because there were so many parents who attended and secondly, because of the number of Tender foot Scouts sworn into the Patrols.

The program started with a moving picture of the Boy Scout Troop when Jack Grabovsky first took over as scoutmaster. This film is practically priceless to the community, by recording a living record of boys that have reached manhood now. Such records grow more valuable each year.

A hymn of thanksgiving, the pledge and the Boy Scout oath opened the ceremony.

Each patrol then gave their favorite yell. Eddie Davenport being judge, decided the Cobra Patrol was best at that time. There were 20 new scouts taken into the patrols. Mothers or fathers stood with their sons to receive their miniature tenderfoot badge, also.

Ernie Hutchinson played several selections upon his accordin. The Cobra Patrol showed their camp pack proficiency.

Carl Souza received his second class badge.

Roger Saunders was presented with Den Chiefs cord. The Camp-O-Ree awards were shown and given to Patrols. The troop award was tied to troop flag.

The explanation of the Scoutmaster's key was then made by Milton Jensen, scout commissioner and in the standing presence of the Boy Scout committee: Mr. Walden Delbon, Joe Hienzer, Bill Rook, Ray Brown and Ray Johnson presented to Scoutmaster Jack Grabowsky.

Patrol Leaders' badges went to R. Gregerson, D. Chapman, A. Souza and Dick Peddicord.

DALY CITY PTA BENEFIT

The Jefferson Union High School P. T. A. of Daly City will furnish Christmas baskets for underprivileged families it was announced at an executive meeting recently.

The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Katherine Foreman of 35 Woodrow Street, Daly City. It also served as a Christmas party for the group.

After luncheon served at gaily decorated tables, reports were read by chairmen and ratified.

Mrs. Ann Eason, school trustee, played Santa Claus for the group.

CHILD GUIDANCE AND CONSULTATION SERVICE

One of the speakers on last night's panel at the Sunnybrae P. T. A. meeting was Miss Elizabeth Lewton, a psychiatric case worker who is a new member of the staff of the San Mateo County Child Guidance and Consultation Service. She had previously worked with a similar clinic in Portland, Oregon. Miss Lewton discussed emotional aspects of the child's personality.

The San Mateo County Child Guidance Clinic is a member of the American Association of Psychiatric Clinics for children, a distinction given only to clinics maintaining the high standards set up by the National Committee for Mental Hygiene. On a recent visit to the San Mateo Clinic, Dr. A. Z. Barhash, eminent psychiatrist and Executive Assistant of the National Committee complimented personnel of the clinic on the outstanding quality of its service to the community. A great deal of credit is due the County Board of Supervisors for its interest and for the high standards incorporated in ordinance setting up a Child Guidance Commission a little over two years ago. Children who need help are referred to the clinic through many sources—relatives, schools, physicians, clergymen, health agencies and social agencies.

Many parents bring youngsters of their own accord. Work is done not only with the Children but with parents and teachers as well. Demands for assistance have been greater than the clinic can handle, operating at its present capacity. At the November meeting of the Commission, Dr. Alec Skolnick, Director, gave a report stating the case load during September was 122 cases open some time during the month, 13 new cases were accepted, with 19 new applications on file. The month of October added 31 more new applications to this already long list. The staff also provided 14 community consultations for such organization as the Red Cross, Probation Department, Welfare Department, Catholic Social Service, Child Care Center and schools. From the work accomplished in the past two years the commission feels the Child Guidance Clinic takes place along with schools, hospitals, recreation departments and other public agencies, in service to the community. Dr. Paul Holmer, Consulting psychiatrist, said today, "The Clinic is no longer a foster child," it should rank now as a legally "adopted child." It has been taken into the lives of the whole community, through teacher organizations, physicians, public welfare agencies and all who have come in contact with the work.

THE GARDENING GUIDE

By C. D. Pod

Winter Pruning.

Most deciduous trees, including fruit trees, may be pruned this month. January and February are apt to be even better for pruning as trees will probably be almost entirely defoliated then.

Dormant Spraying.

If you did not go over your garden with a dormant oil spray last month, it would be well to do so now. Remember that these sprays should not be used on evergreens because of the danger of burning the foliage. Reserve them for dormant deciduous plants only.

Gardeners who did not spray for shot-hole fungus on peach, almond, apricot, and other fruit-trees this fall should do so now. (Shot-hole fungus kills buds in the winter; in summer it causes fruits to become dotted with red spots, and the leaves to be disfigured with small holes.) Effective control is hampered by too much moisture, so it is important to spray before the heaviest rains. Use a solution combining Bordeaux mixture and a light oil.

This same spray is effective as a control of dead-on bud on apricot (a fungus disease that has not yet been isolated). On trees affected with this disease the young buds fail to open in the spring and later turn brown and die.

While you are spraying for shot-hole fungus and dead-bud, it is well to spray your roses with the same solution for black-spot and rust. The dead leaves on dormant roses and on the ground beneath the bushes should be removed and burned to prevent carry-over of fungus diseases.

Experiments have proved that leaf curl on peaches cannot be controlled by spraying at just any time during the dormant season. To prevent curl, it is necessary to spray just before, or just as, the buds swell.

Sour Sap.

Whitewash helps to prevent sour sap, which affects the roots of many fruit trees. This condition usually develops during extremes of temperature and variations in the moisture content of the soil in the area surrounding the tree.

Trees planted in poorly drained or hardpan soil suffer frequently from sour sap. Gardeners who have heavy adobe soil should be careful to see that water does not stand around their trees for long periods. If your trees are surrounded by basins, you should either fill them in during the winter, or make a ditch in which water may be drained away from the tree during heavy rains.

If the ground is not too wet to work, December is a good month in which to plant perennials. Those with strong roots that are not inclined to rot may be planted even if the ground is quite wet. Daylily, Michaelmas daisy, Shasta daisy, veronica, yarrow, and Anemone japonica are some that may be planted now.

One of the finest of spring blooming perennials is doricum (leopards-bane). Most varieties of this plant grow from two to four feet high, and have clear yellow daisy-like flowers on slender, straight stems. Doricums are very effective when grown with spring bulbs, such as tulips, daffodils, and Dutch irises. They make excellent cut flowers, also.

Plant Gifts.

Almost every gardener enjoys giving, as a Christmas gift, something that grows. It might be a packet of seeds, a box of bulbs, a shrub, or a tree. While only one of these would be welcome, it is always fun to give a plant that is associated with Christmas because of color, fragrance, or tradition.

COINCIDENTAL

PENNINSULA ICELAND

The Peninsula Iceland project day received the wholehearted endorsement of the San Mateo Optimists Club as a recreational facility which will be of benefit to children and adults alike.

Optimists' president, Roy Bradford, Jr., said that one of the major objectives of the club is to aid any plan which is aimed to aid youngsters and which will contribute to their becoming better citizens by learning the lesson of working and playing together.

The fact that youth's ice hockey teams will be one of the outstanding attractions of the proposed rink has been one of the features which members of the Optimists Club will be of great help in offering children the type of recreation which will benefit them most. Club members, President Bradford, said, are already talking about possibility of sponsoring a youngster's ice hockey team as a part of the Optimists' year around program.

THANKS FROM BRISBANE

At this time of the year we all seem to want to say thanks for the services rendered us.

Here in Brisbane our summer has been very pleasant; our Fourth of July quiet, and we owe it to our Fire-chief, Mr. Terry, who kept such a guard in that day and night. Also, his helpers are wonderful in their work. As for the ambulance calls which were answered so promptly, the efficiency of Mr. Tann has understanding in handling patients. Also his helpers are something to be proud of.

Our little city is really in every way the fastest, little growing city in the West.

LIONS ROAR!

For a year those two members of the Lions Club, Dick Schroeder and James Williams had been planning a street-lighting, Santa Claus parade for Brisbane.

This month by a popular subscription of $150 and the balance of the $400 donated by the Lions Club, Brisbane has some nice looking street lights and glitter, 80% of which will be usable for next year's Christmas season. Considerable work and planning went into this project by all members.

George McAdoo, Superintendent of Macco Products sent 3 men for 2 days to help with decorating. Mr. Williams pulled the main switch that turned on the gay lights. The turnout and participation of the citizens was very gratifying all the members and people, who had worked so hard to make it a success.

The Lions Club certainly wishes everyone in the community a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

ADVANCE FOR SPRING ... and so HUSH HUSH ... those new hats made out of chanille pipe - cleaners ... no less ... lovely shades if you shop hard enough ... make pin-wheels ... join for brim ... for crown ... line top with satin or felt ... fittin' for the bride. FOR THE KNITTER ... To improve that weave ... knit first and last stitch on the purl side. BUTTON BOX OVER-FLOWING ... odds and ends of crochet showing ... combine the two for beauty and originals.

STRING LAMP SHADES ... Save all string ... dye and cover old shades ... with or without the old material

FRAGRANT LINGERIE ... Cut bar of favorite toilet soap ... dry ... grind ... shampoo your undies ... you will be a favorite on the dance floor.

GLEAMING HAIR RINSE ... Does the hi-price of the juice-less lemon deprive you of your favorite hair rinse ... save all lemon rinds ... boil down to pulp ... strain.

ARE YOU GUILTY ... of rice pudding that stands alone in rigid hunks ... one tablespoon of rice to one quart of milk ... bake very SLOWLY.

GLORIFIED PUDDINGS FOR THE HOLIDAYS ... Whip egg whites ... add your favorite wine jelly ... a frothy colorful top for any pudding.

MUCH ADO ABOUT COUGHING ... try GRAPEFRUIT BITTERS ... grind and chop whole grapefruit ... cover with water ... simmer.

JOSEPHINE PETRON FOLK DANCER

by Fancis Anton

CHAPTER II

THE TUMULT AND

THE SHOOTING — dies

The silence of Golden Park was shattered by the screaming siren of the ambulance. In no time at all Folk-dancers were running from all directions ... who is she ... what happened ... a sharp needle in her heart ... ugh ... an accident

MURDER ... nnnooooo ... who dunnit ...

Mary ... Jo's best friend was hysterical ... she tried to remember when she had last seen Jo ... tunes of the dances hammered in her head ... in her mind's eye she saw Jo whizzing through ... the SPINNING WALTZ ... the HOPAK ... Jo danced that with Ballet' Hellie ... he to exhibit his ballet' talent ... tsk tsk ... infl the RUSSIAN SHERR Jo had a fat fellow in tow ... she was practically carrying the load ... but she was laughing gaily ... NEBESKO KOLO ... that was such fun on the green ... the HAMBO with that John ... who was he ... Jo had been seeing a lot of him lately ... and he had a private studio ... umm ... The RUSSIAN PEASANT ... the SQUARES ... ah, yes, faintly Mary remembered an argument ... Jo was so out-spoken ... her costume was too obvious ... someone was complaining ... her red garter showed.

Kit came up ... she needed a drink badly ... very badly indeed ... where is Virginia ... she can drive us home ... thoughts of a wake crossed her mind ... then she recollected Jo wasn't of the same faith. She spied Virginia's brilliant pink Mexican costume in the crowd ... yelled ... ran over.

Mary joined them ... Virginia had a bad case of nerves ... she didn't know whether she could drive the car ... if Mary would only shut up ... but no ... crying and talking and asking endless questions ... when did you see Jo last ... didn't she come with you ... did she say she was leaving ... was she to go home with you ... Virginia's nerves were ready to snap ... I don't know ... yes ... no ... yes ... she came with me ... she was to leave early ... she had a date with Raymond ... I don't know when she left ... then in a fury ... you know how Jo is ... she always wants to go home ... I don't know ... I DON'T KNOW ... Kit grabbed an arm of each girl ... gawd ... if she didn't get a drink soon ...

John was remembering the Alameda Festival ... Autumn on the Island ... Josephine had been sitting on the side lines ... that was unlike Josephine ... was she interested in that couple ... or was it the man John had approached and asked for the DANISH MASQUERADE ... Jo's flimsy excuse that she didn't know the dance only verified his suspicions ... well, you'll learn it ... she was obstinate in her refusal to dance ... John had been insistent ... they had danced. Later that evening he had seen Josephine in a far corner dancing VO SADU with the same handsome man ... the girl was nowhere around ... This girl was Spanish ... hot blood there ... had she suspected Jo ... umm ... this couple never missed a Sunday dancing in Golden Gate Park.
